Miss Jennie Higgins our County Superintendent now has the money ready for the teachers.

Elder Tindler will go to Tullahoma, Tenn., for a protracted meeting June 27, to continue about two weeks.

Elder F. M. Tindler will preach on the following subject next Sunday at 10:45 a. m. "My seven years as minister of the Lancaster Christian Church."

Rev. C. C. Brown will fill his pulpit at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning and night. His meeting in Barboursville is proving quite a success and he reports that large crowds attend regularly.

On Tuesday evening the beautiful home of Mrs. John E. Stormes was the scene of a lawn party given by Mrs. Stormes in honor of her two visitors, Misses Annie and Sallie Hoover of Nicholasville and the Senior class of the Lancaster High School. The lawn and house was beautifully decorated and the young folks enjoyed themselves immensely.

The Social given by the Senior class at the school building on last Friday evening was thoroughly enjoyed by a large crowd of young people. On account of the cold weather they entertained in the house and the chapel was beautifully decorated.

Delightful refreshments were served and about twelve o'clock the merry crowd broke up each bidding the members of the Senior class success and happiness.

Misses Martha and Helen Gill entertained the Card Club at their home on Wednesday afternoon in honor of their attractive guest Miss Clark, of Cincinnati. On Wednesday afternoon she entertained a number of young people. Both the afternoon and evening were enjoyed very much. The house was decorated with daisies and honeysuckle. Delightful refreshments were furnished and duly disposed of.

The Mary Walker Price Chapter of the U. D. C. including the daughters veterans and other friends, visited the cemetery last Friday afternoon and held very impressive memorial services. First: Invocation, Rev. O. P. Bush; Song, "Nearer My God to Thee"; "Memorial day, first originated in the South" by Mrs. Mattie P. Frisbie. A beautiful selection was read by Mrs. Fred P. Frisbie, it being an address delivered by Judge Doggett in Jacksonville, Fla., on memorial day. Song "God be with you 'till we meet again" prayer by the Chaplain, Mrs. Fannie Farra. The graves were then scattered with flowers and wreaths by the daughters and veterans. Mrs. Ed C. Gaines, on account of illness was unable to read a beautiful selection she had chosen for the occasion.

Big Sale.

Look on the fourth page of this paper and see the bargains that Logan is offering you for thirty days. Come to town at once and get the choice bargains.

Livingston-Lute.

Lancaster friends have received an announcement of the coming marriage of Miss Livingston, of Crab Orchard, on June 15, in the Christian church in Crab Orchard, to Mr. Claude Caton Lute, of the State of Washington, Elder J. G. Livingston, the father of the bride, pronouncing the ceremony. The bride is quite a popular young lady of her community and is a fine musician, having been organist of the Christian church for a number of years. The groom is a prosperous business man of the far west.

Graduating Address.

The address to the graduates of Lancaster High School by Dr. J. J. Tigert, of Winchester was heard by a large audience at the Christian church last Thursday evening. Dr. Tigert made a pleasing appearance dressed in his Oxford cap and gown and made an excellent address. One of the best points of his address was "to have a fixed purpose in life, for there is no true success without it." May these young people follow the way he pointed out as the successful road of life and never lack for a purpose and a high ideal.

Kentucky State's President.

Judge Henry S. Barker has been selected as President of the State University of Kentucky.

The State and Institution is exceedingly fortunate in securing the services of such a man as Judge Barker. He could have commanded much more money in the practice of his chosen profession but he has decided to devote the remainder of his life to the education of the boys and girls of Kentucky. He is a citizen of rare attainments and will bring credit and honor to his new position. A distinguished citizen, a patriot, a learned Judge, he has brought honor to every position he has filled. He is now the Chief Justice of the Kentucky Court of Appeals, and whether on the bench or at the bar he has been the same distinguished and useful citizen and his sphere of usefulness will be increased as he assumes the high and responsible duties of President of the State University.

Do you want good clothes at low prices? If so, go to Logan's.

Base Ball.

Lancaster Independents will play the Richmond first team, Friday afternoon.

The game on last Friday with Middletown was greatly enjoyed by a large crowd, the result being 7 to 1 in favor of Lancaster. Large crowds attend the games every Friday afternoon and our boys are getting better all the time.

Graduated at Central.

Mr. Shirley Hudson was one of a class of 7 to graduate at Central this year.

He has made a splendid record during his four years study in Daviess. As yet he has not fully decided what business he will take up, but expects to go to Canada to farm in the next year. We join his many friends who wish him success as he enters the threshold of a business career.

Fight in Seventh District.

The Burley Tobacco Society has brought out Hon. C. M. Thomas of Bourbon County, as a candidate against Hon. J. Campbell Cantrill for Congress in the Seventh district. The Society claims that Mr. Cantrill has broken his promises to it.

It is to be regretted that the matter is in politics, however we hope that it will prove a benefit to the society and that the best man wins.

Graduated at Randolph Macon.

Miss Lettie May McRoberts is expected home June 10 from Randolph-Macon College where she has just completed a four years' course of study. She is one of the graduates of a class of forty-five, and it is indeed quite an honor to have finished the course of study at such an institution of learning as Randolph-Macon Woman's College. She has acquitted herself with honors and her native town feels proud of her success. Miss Lettie May is one of our most charming young women and we welcome her home.

To Be Married June 15th.

The following announcement will be of interest to Lancaster people, as the bride-elect lived here for several years. "Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Sweeney request your presence at the marriage of their sister, Miss Katharine Hood to Mr. Grover Zetelle Faulkner, June 15, Junction City." The bride is a niece of Dr. T. J. Hood and sister, Miss Emma, of this place, and is possessed of an unusually attractive disposition. The groom is a traveling man whose home is in Lexington.

Marksbury-Sutton.

On last Wednesday at high noon in the handsome parlor of the Sinton Hotel of Cincinnati, Miss Alta Marksbury and Mr. H. Clay Sutton were joined in wedlock's holy bonds. Rev. C. S. Ellis, formerly of this place, officiating. Miss Marksbury has been visiting her sister, Mrs. A. H. Rice, of Richmond, Indiana, for the past two weeks, and was accompanied to Cincinnati by Mr. and Mrs. Rice where she met Mr. Sutton and best man, Mr. Fred Frisbie of this city. Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party was entertained at a handsome luncheon. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. H. A. B. Marksbury, of this city. She is a young lady of many graces of mind and person who is capable of filling the home she will adorn with happiness, and will prove to be truly a helpmate and companion to the husband she has chosen to honor with her hand.

The groom is from one of the best families and is considered one of the brightest and most substantial men of this county who will make his mark as a worthy son of honorable parents.

The congratulations on the happy event are numerous and the RECORD is greatly pleased to add its good wishes to those so freely extended.

New Hospital.

The citizens of Lancaster and Garrard county have been for a long time urging our local physicians to organize and build a hospital. The matter has been under advisement for the past two or three months, and a few subscriptions have been made by our people. The demand for an infirmary will be supplied shortly. Monday morning Mrs. Kinnaird, Acton and Burnett purchased the property of Misses Sallie and Martha Tillet on Danville street, and as soon as the building can be remodeled for the purpose we will have an up-to-date hospital which, it is hoped will prove a blessing to all who may need medical or surgical treatment.

We trust that all of our citizens may take stock in this enterprise and show an interest in every way possible in order that it may be a success. From every point of view we should interest ourselves in the enterprise.

Rochester, Minn., was a small town when the Drs. Mayo started a small hospital there. They are still young men, but at the present time they have a large hospital which is patronized by people all over the country; they own the hospital, a large hotel, and in fact, have built up the city and have helped it in every way. Without the Mayos the city of Rochester would never have been known.

Our doctors may not be so successful in this undertaking as the Mayos, but they can help uphold this community if everybody will speak a good word for the institution and not criticize.

Come to Logan's big sale which lasts for thirty days.

The sad information was received here of the sudden death from heart disease, of Judge Holman, of Aurora, Ind. Something less than a year ago he was married to Mrs. Rosa Brown Crow, of Louisville, and his sudden and unexpected death comes as a great blow to his widow, who so recently mourned the death of her good mother, Mrs. Breathitt Brown.

Council Meeting.

The City Council met on Monday night and "killed" the Telephone franchise. Mr. H. J. Tinsley was appointed as engineer to establish grades upon all streets and around the Public Square. He will begin work immediately and make his report at the next special council meeting, which is June 10th 1910.

The City now has on hand about $2,500 left over from last year. Never before in the history of the town has this much money been on hand at this time of the year. Our streets and crossings are in a fearful condition and they demand immediate repair. As the money on hand belongs to the people it should be spent in a way which will be most beneficial to all, and, in our minds, laying new crossings and improving the streets is the best way to invest this surplus money.

The Lancaster Public Park Way Committee made the following report: Report of Lancaster Public Park Way Committee June 6, 1910.

To Hon. Mayor and City Council of Lancaster, Ky.

The following is an exhibit of estimates etc. in various items of the proposed Parkway improvements as embraced in the extension of (25) twenty-five feet on each side of the present area; and in which a roadway is provided of 60 feet on each side and which last feature is ten feet wider than the roadway on each side of the Parkway of Somerset, Ky. The following is a summary of the items in the proposed construction, the calculations being made from measures and surveys by Mr. Homer Tinsley county surveyor.

- 1 Concrete walkway on outer line of circumference of parkway (450) four hundred and fifty feet $290.50
- 2 Concrete curb gutter $250.00
- 3 Pillar lamp pedestals in concrete 2 ft. sq. 5 ft. high. One at each hypotenuse angle of square, (2) at fountain in center $390.00
- 4 Walkways (concrete) from City pavement curb to entrance on four sides of parkway $150.00
- 5 Excavation, sodding, grading, hauling etc. $155.00
- 6 Crushed rock and placing, $112.00
- 7 Fountain concrete work, $40.00

Total $1,387.50. Your committee are advised that the committee of the Garrard Fiscal Court, and under appointment to confer with the City Council through Messrs. Robinson and Bourne, reported favorably for an appropriation by the Fiscal Court of $500 for the county. Your committee to date are not advised of action on said report by Fiscal Court, to confirm and legalize said appropriation.

Action of the City council in appropriation of similar amount, $500 00 is noted. From funds of women's federated clubs of Lancaster over $100 is reported, making a total to date of $1,100.00 of the present estimate of $1,487.00, for items referred.

No public subscriptions at large have been solicited and it is believed that response of citizens of both city and county, will be ample to complete the work.

In such your committee would respectfully recommend, that the soliciting committee for additional offerings be composed of members of the Women's Federated Clubs and that your honorable body communicate your action authorizing such to the President of the Woman's Club, Mrs. Dr. J. B. Kinnaird.

Your committee would also respectfully recommend that anticipation of action by County Fiscal Court, and to expedite interest and action, that a contract board be nominated by your body and that the County Fiscal Court be represented in same along with this City Council; also at suitable time and place and at earliest, bids on work of above items be advertised and received; the award as usual being to lowest and best bidder.

It is also recommended that a construction board be appointed when such bids are awarded, whose duty shall be to carefully supervise the execution of said work in and for all the various items above referred; or for any additional items that may in progress of work, and to satisfactory completion, be so determined by said Board of Construction.

It is also respectfully recommended that the Woman's Club be represented on said Construction Board by two of their number, as rightfully due for the generous and efficient interest and service of their organization.

Respectfully submitted,
E. H. Pearce,
J. R. Mount,
G. S. Greenleaf.

We trust that every public spirited person in Lancaster will be present at the Council meeting Friday night, ready and willing to give their views as to how much money should be spent on the streets and to advocate the passing of the concrete walk ordinance.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

FOR CONGRESS.
Harvey Helm, of Lincoln County.

A Thriftless Generation.

One of the dominant traits of the American before the Civil War was thrift. A majority of all families practiced economy, and studied it as an art. Children were brought up to think about it. The sayings of Poor Richard were drilled into their ears. Thrift was not only everywhere in evidence, it was obtrusive and obtruded.

With thrift in money matters went a controlling sense of the value of time and of the importance of self-improvement. Idleness and loafing, even frivolous employments, were looked upon as serious vices which no respectable family could tolerate. Children were expected when not at work to read for information rather than for amusement. Books were relatively few; but the few were usually of a serious sort, and were read thru many times. Novel reading was not encouraged, and often was firmly discouraged. The theatre was rather generally thought objectionable.

This serious view of life was itself the product of a hard struggle for existence. One of these days the economic interpretation of history will enable us to understand better than we have comprehended hitherto how the Puritan creed was shaped by the circumstances of the six days of toil, as by the seventh day of church going. Probably, in many instances, its precepts were pushed too far in practical application. Life was often more hard and barren than economic necessity or moral well-being demanded.

But reaction has gone too far. The American people of today are thriftless and extravagant in their economic affairs and, what is far worse, they are wasteful of time and energy. We have become amusement mad, and as an entirely natural consequence, our amusements have to an increasing extent become senseless and vulgar. Our reading matter in larger and larger proportion has become a pandering to sensation. It appeals to appetites that get more and more jaded. The publishers hesitate to accept books of intellectual value. The theatres are afraid of plays that appeal to critical tastes and call for serious artistic effort. But vaudeville programs "shows" and moving pictures multiply prodigiously and attract their tens of thousands. Multitudes of boys and men not only watch ball games day after day, but stand idly about the newspaper bulletins watching the "score." These are but examples, among hundreds, of the ways in which the people get rid of time that if devoted, even in some small part, to self-improvement would make us a nation of mental and moral power.

Combined with this waste of time and resources is a tendency that enormously impairs our effectiveness as a democratic community. "Education" is a national fad. Never has educational machinery been so elaborate and never has the "plant" been worked at such a high pressure. Yet every teacher, from the primary to the university grades, complains of the amazing intellectual poverty of his pupils. They have no fund of general information. Their mental efforts have been concentrated upon prescribed tasks with "examination in view." They have not read widely and consecutively. Selections and fragments constitute their acquaintance with literature and science.

To a great extent this tendency may be accounted for by the intensity of the struggle to win a place in the world where income may be earned by some kind of "brain work." To become a salaried teacher or public employee, to get on the staff of a newspaper, to write for the magazines, or to obtain a foothold in a profession, is the ambition of most of the hundreds of thousands of young people who are "getting an education." So they concentrate their efforts upon the studies that "count." They are not in school or college because they have a thirst for knowledge. It is safe to say that 75 per cent. of them are not even interested in knowledge except as a means to a practical end.

The net result of these two tendencies in combination, the tendency, namely, to seek only specialized knowledge, and the tendency to waste in idleness and upon senseless amusements the time and strength that might be employed in self-improvement, is that something superficiality of view and ineffectiveness in public co-operation which are disclosed by all investigations of misdeeds in business and political life. Astonishing ignorance of what human experience has over and over demonstrated, inability to distinguish between imposture and achievement—as in the case of Cook and Peary—readiness to believe in the "supernatural" powers of any vulgar pretender, faith in the most barefaced swindles offered by promoters, and inability to "get together" in public co-operation for the conservation of the people's resources, or for the carrying on of efficient and economical government, are some of the consequences we stupidly accept of our badly directed educational efforts and our disgraceful waste of time.

It is idle to expect that we shall radically improve our polity and our public policy until we once more take up seriously the art of training children and youth in mental, moral and economic thrift—"The Independent."

In this day of greed and selfishness, when most men, or at least many men count themselves lucky if an opportunity presents itself where a little "grafting" can be done, it would be well to remember the example of unselfishness and patriotism that Regulus, a Roman General, left to the world.

Regulus was captured in war with the Carthageans, and after being detained by them for years, was sent back to Rome for the purpose of obtaining an exchange of prisoners. Before he set out they made him promise under oath that he would return to Carthage should their proposal happen to be rejected; this really happened on the motion of Regulus himself, who proved in the Senate that the exchange under consideration would be greatly disadvantageous to the republic. He therefore returned to Carthage aware of the cruel treatment which awaited him, but preferring the fulfillment of his oath to the preservation of his life. He had no sooner arrived than the Carthaginians incensed against him made him suffer every pain that their resentment could suggest, till he expired in the midst of torment, having rendered himself greater by his constancy in his sufferings than he was by his splendid success.

Vital Washington News

Special to The Record.
In 1890 under Cleveland, the total annual appropriation for the expenses of the national government was $340,000,000, or $6 for every man woman and child. In 1900 our expenses had increased to $600,000,000, or $8 for every man woman and child. The last Congress appropriated the colossal sum of $1,044,401,857, or nearly $12 for every man woman and child. This Congress threatens to spend $17,000,000 in excess of last year's appropriation.

Republicans appear reluctant to concern themselves much about government expenditures in relation to the cost of living. But one thing is certain. Government does not pick up these hundreds of millions of dollars in the street. This money comes out of somebody's pocket. Unlike city and State governments, the national government has but one way of raising revenue to meet expenses, and that is by taxing things eaten, worn or used by the people. Hence it is that increased cost of living is marching hand-in-hand with increased Republican extravagance.

"I am sorry," said Senator Bristow, of Kansas, while discussing the railroad bill, "that the Senator from West Virginia, Elkins, has deserted the chamber, and I am sorry the Senator from Rhode Island, Aldrich, is not here, and that the Senator from Massachusetts, Lodge, has also disappeared."

A survey of the Senate showed that the railroad Senators, after having outlined the kind of legislation they had decided should be enacted, had fled from the chamber without waiting to hear those who disagreed from the railroad viewpoint.

"Those of us who are here might possibly be instructed," suggested a Democratic senator, upon noting Bristow's chagrin, "but if the Senator from Kansas imagines that anything he can say will influence those senators he is wasting his time and breath."

"I am afraid the Senator is right," answered Bristow. Then he went on addressing the Democrats and the empty seats of the Stands.

Let us forget only nine of the 218 Republicans of the National House of Representatives are in a position to stand before their constituents and report that they voted to unseat Cannon as speaker. Page 3400 of the Congressional Record shows that on March 10 all but nine Republicans voted against the Burleson resolution which would have unseated Speaker Cannon and made it possible to elect a new speaker. Every Democrat voted to unseat "Uncle Joe."

A brief definition of "Cannonism" has been asked for. Cannonism means that, when the interests of the common people and the interests of the steel trust, the sugar trust, the lumber trust, the harvest trust and the combination of New England manufacturers come into conflict, the latter get the legislation they want and the people are forced to take that which they do not want. The Payne-Aldrich law is a good illustration. The people said: "We want downward revision of the tariff in order that the cost of living may be lessened." The corporate interests said: "We want upward revision in order that our profits may increase." The people were disappointed, and the campaign contributing tariff trusts were obeyed. That is Cannonism.

Senator Robert M. LaFollette, of Wisconsin, sometimes thinks of the most unheard of things. For instance in the Senate, the other day, in discussing President Taft's railroad bill, he said: "There is not one line in the statute to give to the people reasonable railroad rates. All that has been accomplished is to afford a means of giving equal rates to the shippers." Now who except LaFollette or some other Democrat would think of that?

Direct charges that the Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate caused the appointment of the federal Judge, the prosecuting attorney and the United States marshal who will represent the government in suits over the Cunningham coal land claims, which Ballinger was so friendly to, have been made before the Senate committee on judiciary. A responsible party, Judge James Wickesham, delegate to Congress from Alaska, made the charge.

of the best grade and able to stand severe tests of weather. Each battleship is entitled to 250 flags every three years though many are renewed oftener than this; the majority of these are signal flags and each ship carries forty three foreign flags. The cost of the flags for each battleship is $2,500. The President's flag requires more time and money than any flag made at the navy yard. It takes a woman working daily a whole month to make one. The design is a blue field with an eagle bearing on its breast a shield with the stars and stripes and underneath the national motto "E Pluribus Unum." All the work is done by hand and with silk that costs $9 a pound, and it costs a nice sum when finished.

The foreign flags also require much time and money in making and Uncle Sam must have on hand his quota. The Latin-American republics have flags that are difficult to make and therefore costly. San Salvador's emblem keeps one woman busy for sixteen days and costs our nation $52.50. Germany comes next highest in cost, and then the white elephant of Siam costs $38.00. The largest United States flag, 36x19 ft. cost $40. The rest of Uncle Sam's flags, official and semiofficial are too numerous to mention. Every embassy, legation and consulate abroad has its quota.

Our Flag.

It is to be supposed that everyone knows that June 14, is generally observed as Flag Day throughout the United States but few are aware that this custom originated in Pennsylvania, and it was through the efforts of the Sons of the Revolution that it came to be generally observed.

Before the Declaration of Independence, various flags were carried by the colonists, the most conspicuous of these being the Pine Tree flag which showed a green pine on a white field and bore the motto "An Appeal to Heaven." Another colonial flag was the Rattlesnake flag with the words "Don't Tread on Me," the significance of which was better understood by a certain people across the water a little later on. Still these emblems did not satisfy the people and when Washington was chosen Commander in Chief of the Army a committee was chosen to create a colonial flag that would be national in character. They decided on one with thirteen bars—alternate red and white, the King's colors with the white cross of St. Andrew and the red cross of St. George. This was unfurled by Washington under the Charter Oak. Still this was unsatisfactory and in May 1776 Washington, Col. George Ross and Hon. Robert Morris called on Mrs. Betsy Ross, a widow who lived in Arch Street, Philadelphia in a house that remains unchanged today where Washington unfolded to her a rough sketch of the design of the new flag. She suggested a few changes and Washington drew it, so as to show a flag with thirteen stripes and a blue field with thirteen stars. Mrs. Ross suggested that the stars be five-pointed. When the flag was finished Congress approved of it and the thrifty Betsy Ross was busy thereafter making flags for the treasury and fleets. As to how well this distinguished committee performed this important task a nation loving people can today attest.

Patriotic Toasts.

America,
My native land! I turn to you,
With blessing and with prayer;
Where man is brave and woman true
And free as mountain air.
Long may our flag in triumph wave,
Against the world combined,
And friends a welcome, foes a grave,
Within our borders find.—Morris.

America,
Our hearts, our hopes, are all with thee,
Our hearts, our hopes, our prayers
Our tears,
Our faith triumphant over fears,
Are all with thee, are all with thee.
—Longfellow.

And thou, my country, thou shalt never fall,
But with thy children.—Bryant.

Our hearts where they rocked our cradle,
Our love where we spent their toil
And our faith, and our hope, and our honor,
We pledge to our native soil.
Kipling.

Our country is that spot to which our heart is bound.
Voltaire.

Our Country,
To her we drink, for her we pray,
Our voices silent never
For her we'll fight, come what may,
The stars and stripes forever.
McKinley.

No solid South, no solid North save when solid for the flag of the Union.
McKinley.

Here's to you, Red, White and Blue!
Three cheers, now, all together;
As, loyal and true, we bow to you,
Our flag, that shall live forever!

The Flag.

The flag is the emblem of our nation's history, of its grandeur, and of its power. It borrows its colors from the sky. Its red symbolizes the blood of patriots living and dead, from the war of the Revolution to 1910, from Bunker Hill to San Juan Hill, and from Lake Erie to Santiago and Manila Bay. Its blue represents the uniform of the nation's heroes; its white the purity of our institutions. Its stars represent each of the great States of our glorious union firmly set in the firmament of freedom. It was the flag of Washington, Paul Jones, Jackson, Perry, Scott and Grant and is now the flag of every citizen of this great republic. It carries no badge of slavery, no stain of dishonor. On land or sea, at home, in Korea, in the Philippines, in Porto Rico, in the Hawaiian Islands, and on the frowning walls of China it has been borne in triumph and honor. It is the symbol of prosperity, liberty and peace.

It is lifted up for the healing of the nations as was the brazen serpent lifted up for healing in the wilderness. Oh the Flag! the Flag! We gaze upon it with patriotic emotion akin to adoration; we press it to our bosom with fervent affection. It was the flag of our fathers; it is the flag of their sons; it shall be the flag of those who come after us until He "who layeth the beams of his chamber in the waters and rideth on the wings of the wind" shall sound the last note of recorded time.

W. O. Bradley (from his speech at Arlington, May 30, 1910).

Historic Flags.

The government preserves some historical flags in the National Museum at Washington. Among them are the one carried by John Paul Jones, the one that first floated from the Niagara and the Great Eastern, when the Atlantic cable was laid; the one made from the first silk manufactured in the United States; the one carried by the Red Cross Societies' American ambulance in the siege of Paris; the garrison flag of Fort Moultrie; the flag that floated over Richmond in the Civil War, and most important of all the flag that hung over Fort McHenry in Baltimore in Sept. 1814, and inspired that beautiful and stirring hymn that all patriotic Americans love, "The Star Spangled Banner."

Oh! say, can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hail'd at the twilight's last gleaming?
Whose broad stripes and bright stars thro' the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watch'd were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof thro' the night that our flag was still there;
Oh! say, does the star-spangled banner still wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

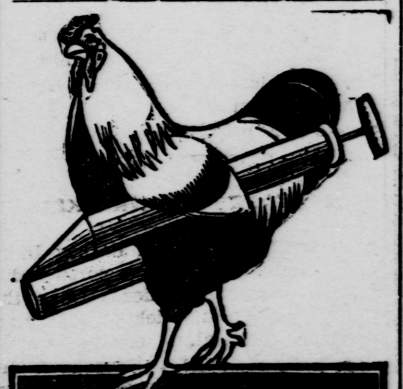

The First Flag.

Our first battle flag designed, was made after the prescribed pattern by a drummer boy under Col. Gansevoort's command at Fort Schuyler. For the white he took two old ammunition shirts; for the red he requisitioned on the wife of a private for a red flannel petticoat and for the blue he used a coat that had been captured at Peeks kill. On August 3, 1777, this flag was used in defense of Fort Schuyler.

The Union Jack.

The "Union Jack" received its name from the fact that the first flag bore the British Union, the famous design that commemorated the union of the crosses of St. George of England and St. Andrew of Scotland under James First, giving the flag its name of Union Jack.

Flag Day.

Gov. Willson issued a flag day proclamation calling attention to the anniversary of the birth of the flag and suggesting that everybody show allegiance to the flag on that and all days. The proclamation is as follows: "To the people of Kentucky Flag Association, organized to perpetuate the love of our people for the flag and the earnest, patriotic spirit which that love strengthens, sends its reminder that Tuesday, June 14, 1910, will be the one hundred and thirty-third anniversary of the adoption of the stars and stripes as the flag of the United States.

"I call upon all our people to join in cherishing the love of the flag on June 14. I order that the flag be displayed on all State buildings and invite the celebration to the day. I call upon the mayors of our cities to recognize this anniversary and order flags to be displayed upon the municipal buildings of their cities, and by proclamation, invite their fellow citizens to do the same upon their private buildings.

I appeal to the newspapers to cherish the interest of our people in this anniversary of the birth of the flag by local articles, editorial comment, historical articles upon the subject of the flag and appeals to the people to display the colors on Flag Day.

"I call upon all school officers and teachers to arrange patriotic exercises appropriate to the day. I appeal to all patriotic societies throughout the State and to all State officers to stir the public heart by their exercises upon this day, and I call upon all citizens to join in the public recognition of the birthday of our flag, and I call upon all citizens to herald the coming and celebration of Flag Day, June 14, 1910, and to fling the stars and stripes to the breeze everywhere throughout all the State, for every church and school, and building—public and private, and from every home throughout the Commonwealth.

"It will be a beautiful tribute for the pupils in every school to salute the flag and pledge allegiance to the flag and republic for which it stands, and I call upon every good Kentucky American to always salute the flag wherever it meets his eye, to take off his hat and rest it over his heart. We cannot too often be reminded or too often remind each other of what that flag stands for.

"Augustus E. Willson, Governor of Kentucky."

Hair Grows Like Grain

and the crop depends upon the soil. Is your scalp fertile?

Starved soil grows only weeds, cheat and puny, smutty, unmarketable grain—starved scalps grow only dandruff, scurf, and thin, scraggly, falling hair. The only remedy for starved soils and starved scalps is food—fertilizer. Dr. Nott, the famous specialist, discovered the secret of fertilizing scalps. His contains nothing but nutriment—the kind of nutriment that starved scalps need. It is scalp and hair food pure and simple.

It penetrates the little tubes and passages of the scalp, rouses the sleeping hair cells like sunshine warms the earth and energizes them into vigorous growth. In addition it kills the germs which grow dandruff—the weeds of the scalp—and prevents their return. Price $1.00 per bottle. The first bottle will show results. Money back if Q-ban Hair Tonic doesn't do all we claim, when used according to directions.

Dr. Nott's Q-ban Hair Restorer is guaranteed to restore gray hair to the color of youth—is not a dye or stain—but just supplies the elements the scalp lacks. Ask for the guarantee when you buy.

Cracks At Creation.

Did you know?
That I am drifting and whither I drift, upon whom I land, I know no more than a rural editor.

That when you strike hard luck it seems to come along like a string of beads.

That New York is preparing to greet Teddy in such a way as will make him show a double line of front teeth.

That John Walters is one of the best Cafe Chemists in town and is also the original "just as good" man.

That Frank Marksberry has invented a "Noisless Springbottom Sole". They will be found invaluable for men unavoidably detained at office. They are warranted not to awaken the lightest sleeper and taking off your shoes in the hall a thing of the past.

That a great many people live on cheese and crackers in order to give claret and champagne to their heirs.

That Billie Burton has a class in stammering. He says he can teach you how to stammer in your own home in ten lessons or money will be refunded.

That every man has his fort; its some mens fort to do one thing and some other mens fort to do another; and its still some mens fort to do nothing.

It was Shakespeares fort to write good plays but he couldnt have edited the CENTRAL RECORD, thats Green Clay Walkers fort.

It was George Washingtons fort not to have any other public man resemble him, but Bob Tomlinson insists thats his fort.

Its Bob McRoberts fort to talk about the fishing trip he is going to take this fall and never goes.

Its Beddow Morrrows fort to swim; he can float all day and make a cake of Ivory soap ashamed of itself.

Acting is the fort of Beazley & Haselden; there is nothing to prevent them being headliners in vaudeville except time.

Naming drinks is Fred Frisbie's fort. Merry widows delight, Old maids surprise, Married mans release, being some of them.

Its Harvey Helms fort to give away seed. He is still giving it away to the needy farmer throughout the land with as lavish a hand as Carnegie gives away libraries.

Its Will Cooks fort to write books on agriculture, chief among which is his treatise "Do gold bricks make good building material."

Its Will Embrys fort to farm; he is also known as the "Knight of the pitchfork" and the only fisherman who never caught a whale.

Its the fort of the Lancaster Fair to outdo all other fairs and it will be larger and better in every respect than ever before. No where else can you meet so many old friends and get an equal amount of enjoyment for your money. So come and meet your friends and mingle with the jolly crowd.

Its the fort of the Lancaster women to prepare good dinners and so many will be on the grounds it will look like one big picnic.

Its the fort of the directors to see that all visitors are given a courteous and hospitable reception. No effort will be spared to make their visit pleasant and profitable.

That the class song of the senior class of L. H. S. was fine, it made us all sad as they bid us adieu with a marcel wave of the hand.

That along with the other festivities of the past week was the graduating exercises of the courtier class. The presentation of diplomas was very impressive. Those receiving them were: Simon Peter Anderson, Earl "Ladies-man" Farr, Jim "Bel-o-weest" Smith, Arthur "Mercantile" Joseph, John "Justasgood" Walters, Louie "Lean" Tindler, Logan "Kengarian" Smith, Billie "Bogie" West, Harry "Callyity" Tomlinson, David "Singular" Thomas, Ben "Mynervy" Cormney, Bascom "Tinderfoot" Ford, and Henry Clay Sutton.

Mr. Sutton received the highest mark in the class and was given a pair of Noisless Springbottom soles by the Prof. who delivered them in a voice as firm as Plymouth Rock and yet as tender as a spring chicken.

Aged State Pensioners.

Robert E. Pluribus Unum Smith is an old-age pensioner in Australia. In his application he added the words, "otherwise known as Rowdy Bob." In spite of this uncomplimentary second title, the local authorities certified his character as "good," and he had no difficulty in getting his $2.40 a week from the state. The oldest Australian pensioner is a woman of 105.

Farm For Sale.

As executor of David Chenault, deceased, I will sell privately the farm on which he resided about one mile from Richmond, Kentucky on the Irvine pike. This is one of the most desirable homes in Madison county, about 30 acres of rich bluegrass land all suitable for tobacco, abundance of fruit of all kind, plenty of running water, nice eastern, modern house of eight rooms, hall, porch etc., with the usual out houses. On the place is quite a lot of fine locust.

If farm is sold can give possession in thirty days. Anyone desiring to see the place call on Mrs. Chenault at the farm, Judge J. C. Chenault, Richmond, Ky., or J. W. Elmore, Lancaster, Ky.

CORTRIGHT METAL SHINGLES

WHEN Cortright Metal Shingles were first introduced (24 years ago) you had some excuse for being sceptical. But now—If you are sceptical it can only be because you do not know the facts in the case. They are used today from the Atlantic to the Pacific for all kinds of buildings, under all conditions. They are fireproof, stormproof; never leak and last as long as the building itself without needing repairs. For further detailed information apply to Peculiar Form of Tobacco Using.

Hookah, the bubble-bubble or Turkish water pipe, is always being smoked by Burmese women, partly because they like it, but mainly to supply the men with nicotine water. This bubble-bubble nicotine water habit is, in fact, a lazy form of tobacco chewing. A mouthful of the beverage is held in the mouth as long as possible. They carry about gourds full of it, and claim it preserves their teeth, and it may.—New York Press.

Nice Things a Baby Can Do.
It can beat any alarm clock ever invented waking a family up in the morning.

Give it a fair show and it can smash more dishes than the most industrious servant girl in the country.

It can fall down oftener and with less provocation than the most expert tumbler in the circus ring.

It can make more genuine fuss over a simple brass pin than its mother would over a broken back.

It can choke itself black in the face with greater ease than the most accomplished wretch that ever was executed.

It can keep a family in a constant turmoil from morning till night and night till morning without once varying its tone.

It can be relied upon to sleep peacefully all day when its father is downtown and cry persistently at night when he is particularly sleepy.

It may be the naughtiest, dirtiest, ugliest, most fretful baby in the whole world, but you never can make its mother believe it, and you had better not try it.

It can be a charming and model infant when no one is around, but when visitors are present it can exhibit more bad temper than both of its parents put together.

BUBBLE.

Miss Alice Rankin of Stanford is the popular and attractive guest of Miss Mary Rankin.

Miss Liza Pikes, the belle of Broadhead is the week-end visitor of the Misses Jones, of Hedgeville.

The musical entertainment, at which Miss Lucy is an adept, was one of the features of the evening. Delightful ices and cakes were served, and all enjoyed a pleasant evening.

Civic Notes.

It is with pleasure that we call attention to the improvements on our pikes leading out of Lancaster. Notice the farms of R. L. Elkin and Ship Estes where trees have been planted throughout their farms, especially along the public highway. Farmers get in line, and border your farms with shade trees, and ere long the popular drives will be out your way.

Have you noticed how clean and tidy the homes in Duncan town are? They have whitewashed houses and fences, and there is an air of prosperity very pleasing.

It is against the city ordinances to burn paper and trash on the streets why is it done?

A business man should have pride enough to keep the front of his store clean, and the rear as well. By each one keeping his own place neat and attractive, the whole town will soon be in order.

The Ky. State Journal in speaking of the recent meeting of the Federated Clubs in that city says: "The good work done by these women in the last generation cannot be over-valued or too highly commended. Their aim is to help humanity not to injure it. They deal with the social, intellectual and moral conditions of the people."

The progress of civilization may be measured by their success."

Use of Natural Gas.
During the last three years there has been a fairly steady increase in the quantity of natural gas used in this country for domestic purposes, a decrease in the quantity used for manufacturing purposes, and an increase in the average price.

An Expert's Opinion of Skin Disease.

A prominent national expert on skin diseases whose name you are familiar with says that in all his scientific experience he has never found a disease to conquer as E-Z-mo.

Yet he does not hesitate to recommend ZEMO as a most successful remedy for the treatment of E-Z-mo, itching skin diseases, dandruff, pimples, blackheads and all other diseases of the skin and scalp. He says that not only do its curative qualities make it popular but also that it is a clean, liquid remedy for external use. A great improvement over the old style greasy salves and lotions which are not only unpleasant to use, but do not destroy the germ life that causes the disease. Z-mo draws the germs to the surface and destroys them, leaving the skin clear and healthy. Can be used freely on infants. R. E. McRoberts will gladly supply those who call with a free sample bottle of Z-mo and a booklet which explains in simple language all about skin disease and how to cure yourself at home with Z-mo.

MAMMOTH CAVE

The Greatest Subterranean Wonder in the World.

Since Discovery, in 1809, This Kentucky Cave Has Been the Mecca of Tourists and Scientists.

Mammoth Cave, the greatest subterranean wonder in the world, is one of the 500 known caverns underlying Edmondson County, Kentucky.

Almost from the time of the discovery of the cave in 1809, by a hunter who pursued a wounded bear into the mouth of the great recess, the place has been the mecca of tourist and scientist. And in this day of easy travel the trip from Louisville to this marvelous labyrinth of tunnels is the merest incident. The cave is about ninety-five miles out from the metropolis of the commonwealth, and a delightful ride of scarce three and a half hours over the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, supplemented by a few minutes' journey up a peculiar mountain railway from Glasgow Junction, places the tourist at Cave Hotel. The finger-prints of almost a century are left on this quaint hostelry that shelters the stranger during his stay in the cave region.

Wonders Are Encountered

By the visitor almost from the moment he steps on the picturesque, winding path leading from the hotel to the cave entrance. The path suddenly stops in a gully marked by a black hole at the bottom opening into the side of the mountain. If the visitor's arrival should happen on a hot afternoon or evening in August he will experience the delight of an instantaneous change from the torrid climate of something like 90 degrees to the pleasant air of an October afternoon. The current of air rushing from the mouth of the cave is responsible for this change. The atmospheric stream flows with force sufficient to at once dry the perspiration from the brow and momentarily chill the flesh. It is popularly described as the "breath" of the cave, the cool air constantly rushing out in summer and the heavy cold air continually flowing in the winter.

Through Narrow Gate.

Passing through the narrow gate that opens into the hallway of this marvelous and mystic mansion built by nature's master architect, water, the visitor has before him in the neighborhood of 200 miles of underground avenues, stately chambers, tortuous passages, stairways, inclines, halls and domes. The regulation courses or "routes" mapped out by the guides are such that each moment brings with it its particular wonder.

First Stop At Rotunda.

The first stop is made at the Rotunda, a magnificent cavern whose limestone ceiling vaults some 50 feet above. Here are to be found the rude leaching vats, log pipes and frame work used by the early miners to secure the lime nitrate so important in the manufacture of saltpeter. The identical objects seen here played their silent but nevertheless effective part in tiding the then infant nation over the perilous days of 1812.

To the right of the Rotunda extends Audubon avenue, named after the great naturalist. This treasure laden passage leads to Olive's Bower, which contains the most beautiful stalactites to be found in the entire cave. Off to the left of the Rotunda one strikes the Main Cave, almost as wide as a city street and fully fifty feet high. Turning aside from the Main Cave for a moment before the Rotunda has been left many yards behind, the visitor may find himself walking through Gothic avenue, inspecting numerous grottoes and alcoves, examining the snow white oyster-like crustaceans in the Cooling Tub, casting a pebble into the Lake of Purity and winding up at the old little waterfall and its attendant beauties in Annette's Dome.

entering the Main Cave the guide leads his guests directly to one of the most remarkable sights in the cave, the Giant's Coffin. This is a colossal rock of limestone formation, plucked in some prehistoric moment from the wall of the cavern and set down at the side of the pathway. The huge rock is estimated to weigh 2,000 tons, is 45 feet long, varies from 12 to 15 feet in width, and has an almost uniform

The guide collects all lamps and re-traces his steps, leaving his guests alone in a spacious hall with a high, flat ceiling. He soon loses himself to view and the dim reflection of the lamps he carries is to be seen on the ceiling. In this faint light far overhead the spots or "stars" of a thousand gypsum crystals stand out against a background of manganese dioxide, giving an excellent imitation of a portion of the "Milky Way" seen in the inky blackness of a misty sky.

And then the guide shouts a warning to his guests, the echoing footsteps of the pilot in this sea of darkness are again heard, and presto!—all light is gone. The senses of the visitor are appalled by the terrifying intensity of the indescribable blackness and he is left in hopelessness and awe until the guide makes his welcome reappearance. Brief cave description will have accomplished its purpose in the mind of the reader if it persuades him to make a personal inspection of these ever-recurring wonders. There are five tiers or "stories" to Mammoth Cave, and when the lowest is reached and all is in readiness for an embarkation on the wonderful Echo River, the visitor is about 270 feet beneath the surface of the earth.

River's Source in Darkness.

This stream, located amid such weird surroundings, is navigable to the three rude boats that ply its surface during the dry season for a distance of about half a mile. The "river" has its source in darkness and empties into the black unknown. The well-known acoustic properties of the walls rising out of and arching Echo River have been often described. In places the smooth arch draws down to within less than three feet of the surface of the water and the mariner must stoop in his seat. The "river" has a maximum width of forty or fifty feet, and its greatest depth is believed to be about thirty-five feet. The natural sounding-board formed by the solid rock twisted into hundreds of nooks and inlets returns the faintest noise or note into myriads of echoes. In the cool, dark waters are often found marvelous whitish fish and crawfish that Nature has kindly deprived of eyes because of their utter uselessness in such a place.

More mention can here be made of a few of the many other wonders shown by the guide on even the briefest cave journey. Mammoth Dome, about 150 feet from floor to vaulted room, is one of the striking glories of the cavern. Its almost perpendicular walls are relieved by gigantic columns rich in sculpture that the hand of man might imitate but not excel. Often these walls suggest that they might have served as models for the sculptors of the interiors of the ancient Egyptian pyramids.

The Bottomless Pit.

The Bottomless Pit is another glorious cavern which, despite its name, has been fathomed. This was first crossed where now there is a tiny bridge by the elder Bishop, guide and explorer, on a cedar sapling. The Cataraacts, the Bacon Chamber, Lover's Leap, Standing Rocks, the Arm Chair, the Cork Screw, the Bridal Altar—where half a dozen weddings have occurred—River Styx, Martha Washington's Statue, and a double score of other interesting features found in this land of darkness get their names from imaginations keenly descriptive, and are shown to the ordinary cave visitor.

And lastly, attention may be called to the Water Clock, that tells the time for the traveler as he is about to leave this region of sublimities. On the outward journey, when the Rotunda is not far ahead, at the guide's command

Probably nowhere else in the world will the tourist be able to secure so thorough an impression of the meaning of an utter absence of light. The peculiar, flickering little cave lamps have in a measure penetrated the shadows, but in the Star Chamber the guest is to be treated to a new sensation.

The guide collects all lamps and re-traces his steps, leaving his guests alone in a spacious hall with a high, flat ceiling. There are five tiers or "stories" to Mammoth Cave, and when the lowest is reached and all is in readiness for an embarkation on the wonderful Echo River, the visitor is about 270 feet beneath the surface of the earth.

More mention can here be made of a few of the many other wonders shown by the guide on even the briefest cave journey. Mammoth Dome, about 150 feet from floor to vaulted room, is one of the striking glories of the cavern. Its almost perpendicular walls are relieved by gigantic columns rich in sculpture that the hand of man might imitate but not excel.

And lastly, attention may be called to the Water Clock, that tells the time for the traveler as he is about to leave this region of sublimities. On the outward journey, when the Rotunda is not far ahead, at the guide's command there is a pause, a stillness follows, and presently is heard from up in the depths of a Stygian recess in the walls above a monotonous, slow, regular tick-tick-tick, the never changing dropping of water from an unseen stalactite to a hidden pool many feet below, patiently telling off the centuries and simply but forcibly describing how the glories lately beheld have been created by the "hand" of water.

Colossal Cavern.

Colossal Cavern was discovered in 1895 by Robert Woodson, who was searching for a spring. It was first partially explored by a young man named Pike Chapman in the fall and winter of the same year and in the spring of 1896, since which time more of the cavern has been explored and a great amount of work done at the entrance—in the widening of several very narrow passages, the lowering of the floor in certain places where the space between the floor and the roof of the cave did not permit of an easy traveling, and the construction of roads. All of this work has now been completed and the trip through the cave can now be made without any great exertion in about six hours. As yet but few persons have seen the interior of the magnificent cavern, and it stands to-day practically the same as when first discovered. None of the beautiful rock formations have been destroyed by vandals or blackened by the smoke of oil lamps, which are not used here. In order to preserve the natural whiteness of the beautiful rock formation it was decided to use individual acetylene lamps, whose light is much more brilliant and powerful and which do not give off the disagreeable smell that arises from oil lamps. Originally several entrances existed to Colossal Cavern, but these were all closed by filling in the entrance with rock and earth and an entrance made at the extreme west end of the cavern. This was done for the reason that the natural entrances were very inconvenient and hard to reach, the surface land being very rough and hilly.

The entrance to Colossal Cavern is one and one-half miles from the entrance to Mammoth Cave and at the foot of a steep hill facing the west, and is the private property of the L. & N. Railway.

From the surface to the floor of the cave is two hundred and twelve feet, the descent being made down well constructed steps in the rock, the passage way averaging about three feet in width. From the foot of the steps the avenue in which we find ourselves, and which is the main avenue of the cave, extends for four miles in a southeasterly direction to the end of the cave. All the rock at this level is limestone, and after one's eyes have become accustomed to the darkness the remarkable shape of the rocks and markings in the walls and ceilings attracts the attention. There is possibly no known cavern where the action of the water and the force of eruption is as plainly seen as in Colossal Cavern and in certain localities farther on, particularly in Florence avenue the walls are richly decorated.

WILL INCREASE TAX.

That Supreme Court Has Sustained Its Validity.

The announcement that the supreme court at Frankfort had sustained the rectifiers' tax placed on that kind of whisky at a special session under former Gov. Beckham's administration, was hailed with delight by whisky men in the capital city, who predict the tax will be increased to five cents a gallon at the next session of the legislature. The tax of one-fourth cent a gallon brings $50,000 into the state treasury.

The tax on rectified whisky was put on at a special session of the legislature which was held immediately following the regular session of 1906. There was a hard fight against the act, and a compromise was finally reached whereby the tax was placed at one and a quarter cents instead of one-half cent. The rectifiers announced that they would fight the case all through the courts, but they consented to pay the tax pending a settlement. If the decision had been against the state and in favor of the rectifiers the state would have had to refund the amount which has already been paid by the rectifiers, and it would have crippled the treasury greatly.

When Sick

Women suffering from headache, backache, pain inside, or nervousness, or any other ailment resulting from female trouble, should get Cardui and use it regularly. Cardui has been found, by thousands of ladies, to relieve female weakness, by restoring to health the weak womanly organs.

Take CARDUI

Mrs. F. S. Mills, Marietta, Calif., tried Cardui and writes: "I don't think anyone can recommend a medicine more highly than I can Cardui. I had a mishap, followed by inflammation. I positively believe I would have died, had it not been for Cardui. When I began taking it, I could not stand on my feet. After taking two bottles, I was cured, and I now weigh 165 pounds." Try Cardui—it will help you. Sold everywhere. B 45

Farm and Stock.

Lloyd Bourne sold to Wm. Boyston a mule colt sired by Wm. Lears jack for $135.00.

R. E. Henry sold a Jersey cow to James Dalton for $75.00.

The man who said "the best poultry men on most farms are the women," knew what he was talking about.

Fresh straw to work in makes the little chicks just as happy as it does the older birds.

The small stomach of the horse indicates the impropriety of long fasting. Feed three times a day at all times of the year.

Lice breed fast when the weather gets warm. Houses that have been occupied by broody hens will need close looking after now.

Horses very often lose their eyesight through dust and hayseed falling into their eyes from the loft above.

The pooled wool of Nicholas county, Ky., has mostly been sold and delivered at Carlisle, at the prevailing price of 24 cents. Dealers had previously been paying 30 cents.

Feeding fresh milk to calves from several cows, instead of skim milk and grain, and getting the market price for the cream or butter will make the difference between prosperity and poor living to many farmers.

The mites and lice of different families, increase and multiply more rapidly than anything else; so begin the battle at once, and keep at it. Carry the fighting into the enemies' territory, the roost pen, and brooding coops, or houses, and fight with a vengeance. Kerosene, carbolio acid and lime are excellent ammunition to use, either separately or together.

Catarrh Will Go

Relief Comes in Two Minutes. Complete Cure in Few Minutes.

Don't go on hawking yourself sick every morning; it's cruel, it's harmful and it's unnecessary.

If after breathing Hyomei, the wonder-worker, you are not rid of vile catarrh, you can have your money back.

No stomach doing—just take the little hard rubber pocket inhaler that comes with each outfit, and pour into it a few drops of Hyomei. Breathe it according to directions. In two minutes it will relieve you of that stuffed up feeling. Use it a few minutes every day, and in a few weeks you will be entirely free from catarrh.

Breathing Hyomei is a very pleasant and certain way to kill catarrh. Get an outfit today, it only costs $1; it's worth $1,000 to any catarrh sufferer. For sale by druggists everywhere, and by R. E. McRoberts who guarantees it to cure catarrh, croup, coughs, colds, sore throat and bronchitis. An extra bottle of Hyomei liquid if needed costs but 50c as the little hard rubber inhaler you get with the outfit will last a lifetime.
